

LONG FLAT BALLS

A HARALD ZWART FILM

What does Don Johnson, Samantha Fox and José Mourinho all have in common?

They all starred in one of the most successful
Scandinavian comedy franchise of all time.
Long Flat Balls 1, 2 & 3.

FUN FACT

“Long Flat Balls” is a local soccer term from the town where this story takes place.

Not a reference to what happens when you sit on a flight for 8 hours.

Often compared to “The Full Monty” and “Hangover” these films are adored by the heartland and true fans see them multiple times. They end up quoting parts of the movie word for word.

The franchise started as a commercial where the message “NO-WAR” was very timely and the ad became a world wide hit, and thus the characters became famous. Hence the initiative to make a movie. Long Flat Balls 1. When that movie broke all records it was easy to make a second which was an even bigger success with Don Johnson starring. It took 13 years and a lot of public demand before the 3rd one was made.

FUN FACT

None of the lead characters are real actors. They're all amateurs, with real jobs, originally cast off the streets to star in the commercial.

The franchise has sold more tickets than 19 of all 24 Marvel movies released in Norway.
